Plant a Victory Garden

If you love your native land, put fertilizer on it and seeds into it.

The man with an empty back lot ought not to be permitted to fly Old Glory from the front steps.

We don't want any amateur landscape gardeners this year—we want men of all types to get out and turn over the soil and plant beans, corn, peas, cabbages and tomatoes.

In the name of those boys with the colors, plant a garden.

The care of those gardens must be followed through. Weeds that cut production are pro-German.

Plant a garden and make the other fellow plant one.

We are Headquarters for Fertilizers, Seeds, Garden Tools, Insecticides, and everything for the garden.

Charles L. Oldham of Dixfield was recently made the defendant in a suit for divorce brought by his fourth wife who was before her marriage, Elizabeth Welch. They met for the first time according to arrangements in Lewiston, May 1, 1915. In August they separated after a strong session, according to Mrs. Oldham, her husband's abusive treatment was more than she could stand. Emory L. Cox, a neighbor, was the principal witness for the defendant and substantiated her testimony as to cruelty.

Found Boy by Side of Road

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Merrifield and Harry Merrifield, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merrifield and Mrs. William Chellis recently motored to Boston and on their return trip they picked up a little boy they found lying unconscious on the side of the road. They had passed him and one of the ladies thought it might be a rag doll, he looked so inanimate lying on the fringe of grass so near the road, but to make sure, the auto was turned around and they were concerned enough to find the little object was flesh and blood and apparently deserted by those who had injured him. The locality was a lonely stretch of road the other side of Portsmouth. They picked the little fellow up and while debating as to where the hospital was, another car came along whose occupants, a lady and gentleman, kindly volunteered their services, and led the way to the hospital, where the child, still unconscious, was left in care of the doctors.

Monday's paper solved the mystery, the little fellow had stolen a ride on the running board of a machine, the driver having no knowledge of his new passenger, and as the speed accelerated he was flung off. Some of his playmates fortunately witnessed the incident and were probably too frightened at the result to at first explain matters. The paper stated the child was suffering from concussion of the brain.

Water Powers In Maine

During the last seven years there has been completed the great Aziscons Dam on the Magalloway River, which stores up nine and one-half billion cubic feet of water, thereby increasing the minimum flow of the Androscoggin River more than 100 per cent. The cost of this development was $1,000,000.

On the West Branch of Penobscot River, the great Ripogonus Dam has been built which impounds the enormous quantity of twenty-two billion cubic feet of water and which has added wonderfully to the efficiency of all water powers on that river. The cost of this improvement was more than $1,000,000. These two developments will generate when needed more than 40,000 horse power.

At Rumford Falls, there is being developed added power to the amount of 18,000 h. p. and at a cost of over $1,000,000.

On the Saco River, during this period there has been completed two of the largest water power developments on the river, namely: at Bonny Eagle and at Hiram, where the present installment of water wheels equals 16,000 h. p. and with a reserve when needed of 4,000 h. p. at a cost of $2,000,000.

At Grand Falls, on the St. Croix River, there has been developed by the St. Croix Paper Company 8,000 h. p. with an added reserve capacity of 4,000 h. p. The expenditure at this development was more than $1,000,000.

The Central Maine Power Company is developing at Oakland 3,000 h. p. and during the past seven years has expended $3,500,000 in increasing the capacity and the efficiency of its plants.

The Portland and Lewiston Interurban Railroad, in order to use the surplus power of the Androscoggin Electric Company, was built and put in operation during the past seven years at a cost of more than $1,000,000.

Here is a total of more than 90,000 h. p. which has been developed during the past seven years; one-half of this period has been the war period. But for war conditions there would have been developed another large power on the Androscoggin, namely: that at Clark's Rips, where the surveys and plans have all been completed for developing 14,000 h. p. and which power will be developed as soon as normal conditions obtain.

Do these facts show unwillingness or timidity on the part of water power owners to develop Maine water powers? Where has greater enterprise been shown than the grand developments of Rumford Falls, Millinocket and in Central Maine, and in what particular could the State of Maine hope to equal such development? What have the promoters of the scheme to develop powers by the State to offer?

Water Powers in Maine

The plan outlined by advocates of State ownership and development of the water powers of Maine seems on its face to be plausible and harmless but when analyzed and a study made of the remarks of its advocates editorially and otherwise, the plan is shown to be Socialistic in its tendencies.

The assurance given and promises made by these advocates are as positive and just as irresponsible as were the promises made by the Bolsheviks to the Russians. Claim is made that the owners of water powers are taking natural rights away from the people. That the public is being systematically robbed and that the State can and will sell light and power at a much lower cost to the consumer than is charged by the public service companies and in fact, many things advantageous to the public will occur if the State shall develop the water powers.

The people of Maine have had nothing stolen from them. Even after the State sold the wild lands and the water power sites the people of Maine have all the rights they ever had to use the rivers and streams and lakes of Maine for business and pleasure.

Not only do the people use these lakes and streams for business and pleasure but they use the lands once owned by the State for hunting and these lands yield a yearly income to the State of many thousands of dollars from hunters' licenses. That the people of Maine have lost any rights they ever had is untrue. That these so-called wild lands were sold too cheaply is an argument against the development by the State of the Water powers. The assumption that future State legislators and State officials will be better or more capable business men than in the past is a matter of conjecture.

The opposition to development by the State of the water powers is based on well defined and sound reasoning.

FIRST, The State does not and cannot develop or operate any line of business as cheaply as does private enterprise, largely because "everybody's business is nobody's business."

SECOND, The State must have an outlet for power developed; an outlet which is not in sight and must be created.

THIRD, State ownership involves political influence and almost inevitably leads to abuse of political power and creates scandal.

FOURTH, The State cannot afford to embark on an enterprise when private capital hesitates. Private capital is always willing to embark on enterprises when a suitable return is offered on the investment including the risk involved.

FIFTH, Private capital is now active in the development of Maine's resources; capital which has already invested many millions of dollars and which is more vitally interested in the future prosperity of the State of Maine than are those people who have never assisted in the development of Maine's natural resources and who now would commit the State to a policy involving unknown sums of money with uncertain results.

While the plans as outlined by a prominent advocate of State ownership have changed several times, he still claims the right to take over any developed powers that may be necessary to carry out his ideas, he further says that the State will be able to furnish light and power cheaper than is now furnished, thereby implying that the State will enter into competition with existing companies which the State has chartered.

Will the people of Maine repudiate the contracts with corporations which the State has chartered?

Will the people of Maine consider those charters as "scrap of paper"?

Do the people of Maine wish to give the impression that they are hostile to development by private capital?

Do the people of Maine think they are likely to induce capital to come to Maine by countenancing this hostile agitation?

Electric Clock in High School

An electric time and signal system has been installed in the Norway high school building and set running Monday morning.

The equipment was furnished by the Standard Electric Time Co. of Springfield, Mass., and includes the master clock which has been set up in the assembly room; two secondary time pieces for the sophomore room and eighth grade, with buzzers in convenient locations, also gongs for the corridor and two exterior entrances. An eight cell storage battery including a transformer and other appliances located in the basement, produces the current, which is taken from the Oxford Electric Co. circuit at practically no cost.

This clock and its subsidiaries require no attention, charging the batteries once a week and the outfit does the rest. The perforated tape regulating the electric contact manipulates the bells for class work, intermission, assembling or dismissal with the human element eliminated.

In case of fire in any part of the building a general alarm can be sounded by pressing a button.

Supt. P. C. Morrill installed this innovation only after long deliberation. It was an arrangement of expense vs. efficiency of the school and its reaction upon the students and instructors. The old dry battery gong system was proving an expensive failure. It had passed its stage of usefulness. All bells were too small for the work required and out of repair, so must be replaced before the next school year. Much time was lost every day as the gongs failed to ring properly, this disorganized the whole schedule and was detrimental to efficiency.

It is costing the town eight cents per minute for teachers' salaries in the high school and five cents in the grades. A total of thirteen cents per minute for the building caring for 370 scholars. Therefore a loss of fifteen minutes each day because of confusion or inefficient service not only wastes good money in the course of a year, but has a bad influence over all concerned. No up-to-date efficiency manager in any business would stand such conditions if his firm expected to make good. This is the reason for the new electric clock.

Everything moves on time. The principal can give his whole attention to class duties without dividing with a clock and push buttons. Instructors know when the signal closes the recitation that the period has not encroached upon the next and can regulate future work without any uncertainty.

The expense of the installation was not large. Supt. Morrill presented the sophomore room their time piece while the eighth grade under Mary Dresser purchased the clock in that room as a class present to the school. In the high school the students will contribute generously from their "self denial" fund toward the master clock. Roland Andrews and Walter Noyes did the wiring in a satisfactory manner.

This help added to the cost of replacing the old dry battery system with its expensive yearly outlay and inevitable loss of valuable time, cut the cost to a trifle in comparison to the mutual benefits and prestige of Norway High school.

Mrs. Dora B. Tower

Mrs. Dora Brown Tower, widow of Frank Elliott Tower, passed away Saturday afternoon, May 11, at 2 o'clock at Dr. King's Private Hospital in Portland. The cause of death was intestinal paralysis following a surgical operation.

She had been in poor health for more than two years, but few realized the seriousness of her condition as she bore her suffering without complaint and remained cheerful until the end. The operation was performed Monday and successful in every particular with all things apparently favorable for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Tower was born at Taunton, Mass. Dec. 5, 1857, the daughter of George and Abigail (Godfrey) Carpenter. She resided there several years and secured a liberal education from the several schools.

On January 21, 1879 she married Frank Elliott Tower and they resided in several Massachusetts cities where Mr. Tower was constantly employed as an expert shoemaker.

The family moved to Norway in 1905 where Mr. Tower passed away some three years later. Since his death Mrs. Tower has lived with his daughter here and sons at Portland but during three years served as matron at Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity of the University of Maine. She proved a wise counselor and true friend to the students under her care.

Mrs. Tower was a member of the Norway Baptist Church and active in every branch of the work.

Among the immediate relatives who survive are two sons, Karl Lester Tower, organist at Chestnut street church and teacher of the pianoforte, Portland; Merton Wesley Tower, boiler maker, Portland Terminal Railroad; a daughter, Esther Lucille, wife of Harold A. Anderson, Norway, and two brothers, George Carpenter aged 73 of Fairhaven, Mass., Orrin Carpenter aged 66 of Taunton, Mass.

Rev. G. H. Newton, pastor of the Baptist Church, conducted the services which were held at the home of Harold A. Anderson, Beal street, Monday afternoon. Burial in the Tower lot at Pine Grove Cemetery. The bearers were Dea. Birney Fields, Charles DeCosta, Leon Longley and Albert Dowdall. The floral gifts were as follows:

Wreath—Karl and Merton Tower.

Spray Easter Lilies—George Carpenter, O. Supt. P. C. Morrill, Mrs. May Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. Louise Hayden.

Spray Carnations—Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Anderson.

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would be awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong." Mrs. ALBERT SULTZ, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultz's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacement, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

RED CROSS NEEDS MONEY

Big Drive for Funds May 20-27

FOR $100,000,000.00

YOU ARE ASKED TO HELP

ACROSS THE SEAS THEY CALL

Across the seas from every war-torn nation in the Allied cause there comes the call for Red Cross help.

It comes from soldiers who have grimly faced the gleaming bayonet steel and poison gas and screaming shells, and who now lie with parching throats and throbbing wounds.

It comes from soldiers crippled, mutilated, blinded, who can no longer fight and must be taught and trained for useful occupations.

It comes from the underfed, shivering, helpless prisoners in the German prison camps.

It comes from little children, orphaned, homeless, slowly starving day by day, by tens and tens of thousands.

It comes from mothers in the pillaged zones of war whose hearts and souls have been made numb with horror.

From all these millions of suffering human beings there comes across the seas the call for help—help that because of the frightful burdens placed upon our Allies cannot be given unless it is provided by the American Red Cross.

Another hundred million is needed to "carry on."

What will America's answer be?

If You Were There Instead of Here

If you should see a French child—a tiny girl—sitting by the roadside, sobbing quietly because she is too weak from hunger to cry very loud, you would sell your watch to buy her breakfast.

If you should hear somewhere in the restless wards the low moan of an American soldier, you would gladly sit by him all night, if that would save his life. You are not there, but here, where these sights and sounds are not brought home to you! But the Red Cross is there—and you can make it your representative!

Over there the Prussians are crucifying the incarnate Liberty of Man, and they are making the world black for little children!

The money you give to the Red Cross now will give you the right, when the Beast is beaten down, to think, "There are happy children, clear eyed women, and strong men alive today, because my money went across!"

The time has come when the Red Cross needs some of your money for the great Red Cross work. Will you help in raising the needed money by giving freely?

This Is Not Charity—It Is Our Duty

There is only one way to give to the Red Cross—give till your heart says stop. A little contribution is only a salve to pride.

This is not to say that contributions of only one dollar, or even of only one nickel, are not desired—and needed.

For you to give $5 when you can give $25—for you to give $25 when you can give $100—is to dodge the heaviest obligation that this war has laid upon you.

For remember, this is not a charity—this is a duty.

This is not a time to give because others give. This is a time to give because others need.

No man can tell you how much you ought to give. Except this: that "Over There" the need is so great that only by cutting to the quick, only by giving all that you think you can give and then more—only by giving not a little of your excess but much of it—only by taking from your own children and from your wife and from yourself, can the needs of the men who are fighting for you and the needs of the children of the men who have died for you be met.

Ask your own soul how much it should be!

Every Cent of Every Dollar Received for the Red Cross War Fund Goes for War Relief

The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the World has ever seen.

It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.

It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions. It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War torn allied country.

It plans tomorrow to help in the work of restoration throughout the world. It feeds and clothes entire populations in times of great calamity. It is there to help your soldier boy in his time of need.

With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores and smooth running transportation facilities, it is serving as America's advance guard—and thus helping to win the war.

Congress authorizes it. President Wilson heads it.

The War Department audits its accounts.

Your Army, your Navy and your Allies enthusiastically endorse it. Twenty-two million Americans have joined it.

Now A Finer Super-Six

50,000 Cars in Service Led to the Development of This New Hudson—No First Model Could Possibly Match It

Two years ago the first Hudson Super-Sixes were delivered.

Judged by other cars of its day, it was so wonderful in performance that it gained immediate popularity. Its sales at once jumped into the lead among all fine cars.

Stock cars proved performance, endurance and reliability as no other car had ever done.

Those tests were made for two reasons:

First, and naturally, the intent was to get advertising for the car. Thus motorists learned as they never could have learned otherwise the character of Super-Six performance.

The other purpose was that Hudson engineers might learn how to build an even better Super-Six.

They had the additional advantage of knowing how the thousands of cars bought by individuals were performing.

And so now in the new series is offered an even better Super-Six. In the smoothness of its operation, and the manner in which it will answer to every service demand without giving the owner undue mechanical concern, it is another long step forward in automobile design and construction.

The first Super-Six possessed all that Hudson engineers knew at that time.

No experience with the cars known up to that time could have helped to make the Super-Six better than it was.

And since the Super-Six opened a new field in motor car design, it was to it that Hudson engineers had to turn to learn how to improve it.

That they have done wonders to the present series over those of the earlier production must be recognized by anyone who has ever driven the two models.

For instance, there is greater endurance and greater reliability in the new Super-Six.

From the very first the policy has been to make the Super-Six the perfected ideal car. That called for the finest materials, the finest workmanship. This you will realize by examining the new body styles. They represent the very best in every detail. And you can better appreciate it by the enduring, carefree way in which it will run under every condition.

There are ten different types of Hudson super Super-Sixes.

Assistance was summoned from Denmark, Hiram, Fryeburg and Cornish and quickly responded.
